STUDENT STORIES

David Young Self-Employed Illustrator

University forced David out of his comfort zone, exposing him to all sorts of new artistic styles and introducing him to inspirational people.

The result was a career that's spanned over twenty years and has seen his work gracing the covers of top magazines, book sleeves and even drinks bottles!

His best advice:

Don't be put off doing something you love - if you're committed to working hard, you're more likely to succeed.

How did he get here?

- A-Levels in Art, Engineering and Graphic Design
- OND Illustration and HND Design Ceramics at Falmouth University
